

SANTAS slugged it out yesterday at a charity Christmas pudding race. Hundreds of people turned up in central London to support the Cancer Research UK event. Teams dashed around an obstacle course in Covent Garden trying to keep hold of their precious puds. Alison Orr, from Cancer Research UK, said: "All the money will go straight to local research."

